

Supply chain disruptions and localized but material impacts for commodities are seen as the biggest potential impact of the rising geopolitical tensions in 2024

